COLLEGE OF HUMANITIES
SCHOOL OF ARTS
LECTURER: ENGLISH STUDIES
DISCIPLINE OF ENGLISH STUDIES
HOWARD COLLEGE CAMPUS
REFERENCE NUMBER : A07/2020

The discipline of English Studies in the School of Arts at the Durban (Howard College) campus offers undergraduate and postgraduate programmes in a wide spectrum of literature written in English ranging from the 'canonical', to African and South African texts, as well as international and classical texts. The successful candidate will be expected to carry a full lecture load; to supervise postgraduate students at an appropriate level; to carry out academic research; and to contribute to managing the administrative tasks within the discipline.

In view of the impact of the global pandemic on tertiary education, an appropriate candidate would need to be adaptable to an online/digital learning environment. Some criteria that may be advantageous include: completion of a PhD, as well as evidence of research activity and/or supervision experience. A successful candidate who does not have a PhD or is not registered for the qualification would be required to register for a doctorate on appointment.

Minimum requirements:

Lecturer:

- Master's degree in English literature.
- Minimum of two years teaching experience in English literature.
- Knowledge of interpretative skills of literary texts, as well as critical thinking in the theories of literary studies.
- Familiarity with online teaching methods.

Short-listed candidates will be expected to deliver to the selection Committee, a 10-minute presentation of a sample lecture on an English literary topic.

Applicants who do not meet the minimum requirements will not be considered.

Applicants are required to complete the relevant academic application form, which is available on the Vacancies page of the University website at
